OUTDOOR CIRCLE CARRYING ON IMPROVEMENT WORK; PURE ARE OUTLINED PLANS FOR THE FUTURE

Members of the Outdoor Circle, of what was formerly the Kiloana Art League are congratulating themselves that at last their enthusiasm and hard work are beginning to show the results they hoped for. Although trees have not yet grown to the size when they could be called shade-giving, still their progress is so advanced and steady that a few years more will make them things of beauty.

Most notable among the improvements that the Outdoor Circle has brought about has been the cleaning and planting of the Aala park playground. Whereas formerly it was only an outlet for the tenement district—dirty, dusty and unhygienic—it is now growing to be an attractive place, green and shady. The circle has planted monkey-pod trees all around the park, which in a very short time will be tall enough to keep the sun off the little hot heads that aim with the Outdoor Circle and as the Kiloana Art League has disorganized, they are planning to unite as one club in a hard campaign against ugliness in this city. The Mrs. Lowrey in the February number of the Friend as follows:

1. Plant trees in streets.
2. Secure sidewalks and curbs—urging concrete sidewalks.
3. Removal of all old fences.
4. Rid City of Bill boards.
5. Clean up vacant lots.
6. Get as much hibiscus planted as possible.
7. Park open spaces.
8. Establish playgrounds for children.
9. Conserve and develop the natural beauties of the landscape by encouraging the growing of native trees and shrubs and the introduction of such new ones as belong to tropical life.

The circle was originally a branch of the Kiloana Art League with Mrs. Lowrey as chairman. Later, however, she organized in different parts of town, district committees, not in conjunction with the art league. These attended to the general cleaning-up and planting of their districts. As these committees have a common aim to depend on the tub for cleansing them, one should get samples and subject them to a severe test before buying. As for being ironed—common sense should teach anybody that most of these fabrics would utterly lose their chief effect if they were subjected to the iron.

The solid colored ratines, eponges, velours, and similar materials will not soil quickly, and dry cleaning therefore would be not only a safer, but also a not-too-expensive way of treating them. This is particularly true of many of the more elaborate new models which are far too complicated to be handled with success by the ordinary laundress.

For example, a striking dress of Copenhagen blue eponge, combined with batiste of the same shade, was displayed in one of the shops last week. The skirt and the lower part of the corsage were of the eponge, while the necessary lightness and semi-transparency were given to the upper half by the batiste and trimming. It went out ornaments of the eponge. The result was a really handsome gown.

QUALITIES OF THE NEW FABRICS

Cotton fabrics this season exhibit so much variety and originality that the difficulty of making a satisfactory choice is even greater than usual. Women examine the curiously beautiful new stuffs with evident appreciation, but just as evident a doubt as to their practical qualities. Shrewd inquiries on this point have been frequent. The sales-people guarantee nothing. "It is sold as wash goods," they say. But they firmly and promptly add: "We do not guarantee it. We advise dry cleaning."

This wise counsel applies to many of the novelties, such as the ratines of unusual tints, the crepes and velours in printed designs or with wool embroidered flowers or colored ratine borders to the colored velours with white ratine or boucle stripes and so on. Undoubtedly some of these things will wash satisfactorily. But if one

A Word to Women On Health

Women are generally careful about the state of their health, and they are apt to make good use of remedies known as disease preventives.

Germicide and antiseptics are included in this class, but the greatest care should be exercised in using any which contain poisons, unless prescribed by a physician. By reason of its absolute safety and its beneficial results, physicians have strongly recommended Tyree's Antiseptic Powder. It is unequalled as a preventive of contagious disease, healing diseased tissues, ulcers and delicate membrane passages, and ideal as a douche. A 25-cent package makes two gallons standard solution. Sold by druggists everywhere. Send for booklet and free sample. J. S. Tyree, Chemist, Washington, D. C.

PUNAHOU TO GIVE STOMACH MISERY LIGHT OPERA TONIGHT

The first presentation of "The Chimes of Normandy," the cast of which is composed of members of the Oahu College Dramatic and Glee Clubs, will be given in the Charles R. Bishop hall, Punahou, this evening beginning at a quarter-past eight o'clock. The final rehearsal was held last evening, at which time the cast appeared in costume and the performance this evening promises to excite any other of its kind ever attempted by the students of the college.

"The Chimes of Normandy" is an opera in three acts, there being beside the members of the cast, more than sixty students in the five choruses. Following is the cast: Serpolette.....Miss Helen Latham Germaine.....Miss Louise Churchill Henri, Marquis of Cornville.....Allan Renton Jean Grenicheux, a fisherman.....Reynold McGrew Gaspard, a miser.....Dixon Nott The Bailiff.....Vernon Tenney The Notary.....Douglas Baldwin

VILLAGE MAIDENS.

But it would be ruined if it ever went to the tub.

Of course, such a gown could be worn a long time without showing soil. But it must be remembered that eponge does muss. The soft pile of the fabric crushes, especially in the back of the skirt, as the result of being much sat upon. This is even more the case with the lovely cotton velours. For that reason the crepes, velours, and the harder finished ratines are more practical for ordinary wear.

There is a great difference in the ratines. Some have a deep loose pile and others a rather hard cord finish with comparative few and very short "nubbins." The latter undoubtedly will give better service. A smart little frock of this material was in white with irregular black stripes. It was a one-piece affair having straight skirt lapped at one side of the front. The belt, collar and cuffs were of plain white crash embroidered in dull blue.

These ratines are also good for coat suits. For young women the combination of Russian blouse and plain skirt is the best model to follow in this fabric. Some of the blouse suits in yellow, or leather colored, ratine are most attractive this year. For an older woman a good model was shown in lavender. It was made with a plain skirt and strictly tailored coat; one of those familiar but always good-looking straight coats, about 26 or 27 inch length, which are beginning to show themselves occasionally as an agreeable contrast to the multitudinous varieties of cutaways. The only trimming was buttons of lavender and white on both coat and skirt.

JUST VANISHES

No Indigestion, Gas or Sourness After Taking "Pape's Diapepsin"

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only fifty cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these fifty-cent cases, then you will understand why dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why they usually relieve sour, out-of-order stomachs or indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you so to the table with a healthy appetite; but what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for biliousness or constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for indigestion or gastritis or any other stomach misery.

Get some now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of stomach trouble and indigestion.—advertisement.

PROF. BRYAN WOULD INCREASE OUTPUT AND LESSEN COST OF FISH

A little booklet has just been printed by the College of Hawaii containing the recent lecture of Professor William A. Bryan, head of the zoological department at the college. The subject of the lecture is the need of a marine biological laboratory for Hawaii.

"Such a station," he says, "would of necessity be concerned in the local and especially the economic problems connected with the aquatic life that have a direct bearing on the conservation and increase of the aquatic resources of the territory."

In another part of the lecture Professor Bryan refers to the aquatic resources of the territory again, saying that steps should be taken by the legislature in asking the co-operation of congress for the establishment on this island of such a station, to the end that sea food may be increased in quantity, improved in quality and cheapened in price.

PUBLIC INVITED TO MEETING OF Y. M. C. A.

The report compiled by General Secretary Paul Super covering the work accomplished by the Young Men's Christian Association during the past year has been completed, and is being transferred to charts and diagrams for presentation at the annual meeting of the association one week from tonight.

The meeting this year, which will be open to all members of the association and others interested, promises to be unique and interesting, as it has been planned along the lines of the annual meeting of the stockholders of a great corporation or factory, and will be known as the "annual stockholders' meeting." The officers and directors of the association will represent the stockholders while the association itself will be recognized as a "character factory."

All members of the association are invited to meet in the games hall at six o'clock on the evening of the meeting for supper, following which President Trent will take charge of the meeting and introduce the several speakers who will make brief reports covering the work of the different departments. This will be the first public annual meeting of the association which has been held in several years and marks the close of the second fiscal year in the new building. The officers of the association are setting out to make the meeting one that will be long remembered and which will set a standard for meetings to be held in the future.
